

Individual Rotation Progression | Personalized Phase

	Teacher/Students Action(s)		Possible Next Move to Take
Teacher Role	1	Teacher monitors for misconceptions while students are working and begins to provide feedback on some tasks verbally or digitally that are instructionally driven.	Create an exemplar for highest leverage tasks to guide your coaching/redirection prompts for students.
	2	Teacher pauses small group lesson to provide feedback to multiple groups.	Teacher schedules time within the block to give feedback on multiple tasks.
	3	Teacher uses a system for students to access an example or provide an answer key to check their work that does not interrupt small group instruction.	Create a system for students to receive on-demand feedback before they move on to another task.
Organization of Learning	4	Teacher scaffolds instruction by branching so that students complete a check for understanding that differentiates the next move for the student.	Organize instruction to be adaptive for students to complete a check for understanding before they advance.
	5	Teacher uses data to assign a playlist to an individual or group based on student needs.	Create a playlist that is sequential and has a: pre/post assessment, uses multiple modalities to teach or opportunities for practice, and embedded checks for understanding.
	6	Teacher uses a system for mastery data to be accessible for all students.	Create a system that makes data visual for the individual student.
Student Role	7	Students use on-demand feedback to correct their mistake(s).	Embed additional practice for students who don't achieve mastery the first time.
	8	Students reflect on progress towards mastery data and engage in authentic learning .	Create opportunities for students to understand real-world connection to what they are learning.
	9	Students apply learning and co-create authentic products with their peers.	Design opportunities for students to share and/or define their summative work with an authentic audience for feedback and celebration.
